This year, we continue to invest in enriching our music and arts programming. Our primary focus was to create diverse and engaging opportunities for students to explore their creativity and artistic talents. Kindergarten, 2nd, and 4th students participated in their annual musical theatre performances. The introduction of musical theatre for 6th graders was particularly exciting, marking the first year of this initiative. It was incredible to see our middle school students take on more complex roles, and their dedication to acting, singing, and working together as a team was inspiring. The musicals became a highlight of the school year, with students showcasing their hard work and talent to the school community. Not only did these productions showcase our students' artistic skills, but they also significantly boosted their confidence and fostered a sense of teamwork. Another highlight was our annual art show, which featured various creative works from students across all grades. The art show provided an excellent platform for students to express themselves and share their artistic achievements. We saw diverse artworks, from paintings and drawings to sculptures and mixed media pieces. The funds were essential in providing high-quality art supplies and materials, ensuring every student could fully explore their artistic potential. To further enhance our students' appreciation for the arts, we organized a series of field trips to some of the most renowned art galleries. Visits to the Museum of Latin American Art (MOLAA) and the Getty Museum were among the most memorable experiences of the year. These trips were not only educational but also profoundly inspiring. Students could see world-class art up close, participate in guided tours, and engage in interactive activities that connected directly to what they were learning in the classroom. These excursions broadened their horizons and deepened their understanding of different artistic styles and historical contexts. Lastly, we invested in ensuring that our music and art staff had opportunities for professional learning and cross-curricular integration. They attended national conferences and partnered with local artists and musicians to enhance their artistic and creative development.
